COMMENTS

- For this project, we were approached by Design Design Architects with the idea of a durable, seamless finish that mirrored the classic microtopping look. We worked closely with them to customise the Resin Rustic patterning and create a custom Tungsten colour.
- In addition to the customisation of the standard system, the client chose a matte option for the finish to help conceal natural wear and tear.
- Since the original project in Melbourne, more Footlocker stores have been completed across Australia and New Zealand totalling several thousand square metres.
